Hongkong, September 26, 1888. MOORE'S GOGO SHAMPOO WASH.

This Wash has proved itself to be the BEST PREPARATION EVER PRE-SENTED TO THE PUBLIC.

THE Bases of this compound is made of Gogo Root. The natives of the Philippine Islands never use anything else for washing their hair; you never see them bald, and it is quite common to see the females with bair from 5 to 6 feet long. By using this SHAMPOO WASH as directed, you will never be bald. The Proprietor offers the Wash to the public, being entirely confident that by its restorative properties it will surely arrest decaying hair, completely eradicate scurf, dandruff, and cure all diseases of the scalp; it does not contain any poisonous drugs, but, by its cooling proper-ties allays the itching and fever of the scalp,

Mr. Moore has succeeded in being able to put this Wash up in bottles without allowing it to ferment, and he will guarantee t to keep any length of time in any climate. CAMPBELL, MOORE & Co., Lad., Under Hongkong Hotel.

HONGKONG, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1888. THE opening meeting of the Legislative Council of the Straits Settlements has been held, and Governor Sir Cecil Smith has delivered an interesting address. There are many points in the address well worthy of notice in Hongkong, and we have reproduced in another column several extracts therefrom. The increased revenue from the Opium Farm we have already alluded to. His Excellency considers the condition of the Chinese population, 'to whose labour and enterprise the development of the Colony and Native States is so largely due.' It is satisfactory to think that we in Hongkong are about to reap a similar advantage, although we are still far | cially contradicted. behind Singapore in the amount we derive

We notice, with some apprehension, that Governor Smith, in speaking of what is to be done with his surplus balances, refers to claims which are being made by Her Majesty's Government in connection with the Military Contribution of the Colony. and which he is informed are now being dealt with by a Committee of the Imperial nial Office. We trust this is not an ind for additional contributions. Singapore, if we remember rightly, made the same arrangements two or three years ago as we did here-agreed to build forts for which the Home authorities were to supply guns—and are at a loss therefore to know what these the impudence to ask for more money, when Singapore. While on this subject we may forth by Governor Smith as to the time when the guns will be delivered. He remain, I am concerned to have to report, in an incomplete state. The War Department has, I learn, been unable to furnish the remaining portion of the armament, owing to the heavy guns supplied by the manufacturers for the Forts not having stood the severe tests now required. Some months more will, therefore, clapse before those guns are received in the Colony. The quick-firing guns will be despatched from England in November, or perhaps earlier. Commenting on these remarks, the Singapore Free Press says :- 'Although His Excellency gives, as the resson (for delay), the statement with which he has no doubt been officially furnished by the Secretary of State, we cannot think that the statement of this masses of the Indian population were un-Minister is quite candid, for it is really no secret that the reference is only applicable public animadversion on the Government to a portion and not the whole of the sanc- as an evidence of inefficiency and weaktioned armament. There is no manufacgreater part of the new armament that is to and reasonable efforts of the people to rebe laid down here, but it is quite true that their condition commanded the warmest what the Secretary of State remarked, about "the heavy guns not standing the severe correct in saying that we are to receive no more than two.'

dress that is of interest to Hongkong all the vital questions. The Indian is his confession that, notwithstanding Nawab, the Times thinks, would carry the Act passed in the Straits Settlements Gladstone's personality and a high opinion for the compulsory registration of imports of his prudence in refusing to commit accuracy what share the local trade has the total volume of trade. He is able to state that the aggregate value is roughly £40,000,000, but in order to gain any ides of the local trade he has refer to the returns from the Protected Native States. This is a virtual admission

Hongkong. We are able here from outside sources to compute very nearly the volume of our trade, and like the Straits Government we can estimate our local trade from the returns of what with a stretch of imagination we may call the 'adjacent' State of

to the Protected Native States. Governor Smith speaks of their increasing prosperity. In no other part of the world, he says, has such rapid development of a solid and permanent kind taken place in so few years. This is a great testimony of the benefit derived from the security of life and property which the protection of England brings to native states. The latest addition to the number of Protected States is Pahang, which has hitherto been a most ill-governed state. The Governor of the Straits Settlements is confident that the change will be the beginning of a new era in the history of Pahang-the most favoured by Nature in its mineral and agricultural resources of all the States in the Malay Peninsula-and 'will prove one of undeniable benefit, to the natives of the country, and largely tend to increase the prosperity and commercial importance of this Colony.' The Governor of the Straits concludes his address by 1448 alluding to the increasing responsibility which the extension of the Protected Native States has thrown on him. Formerly his Government exercised control over 14,000 square miles, now they have the supervision of 24,000 square miles, that is of a country

The question of the National Congress was mooted in the conversation, but Mr Gladstone said that upon this he only had imperfect information. WE observe that Singapore is following the example of Hongkong in endeavouring to form a Polo Club.

WE observe from a telegram in the Singapore papers that foreigners proposing to settle in France have to give the particulars as to age, occupation, &c., within a fortnight, while a month's time is allowed to actual settlers to procure the documents. We suppose this decree is simed mainly at the Italian workmen who are invading France, and perhaps to a certain extent at Germans.

Wr have to acknowledge the receipt of the first number of a Portuguese weekly paper, O Trogresso, published in Shanghai, by Messra Guedes & Co. In its programme we find the usual promise, not to enter into any party factions, but simply to work in the way of progress; a rigorous and absolute impartiality will be observed on everything. We must congratulate our new contemporary on its intentions. If it would abide strictly to its promises, a new era would be opened up for Portuguese journalism in Far Cathay.

WE understand that the substantial sum of over $200 has been handed to the widow of the late Turnkey Pereira, from the proceeds of the concert that was recently held wards the natives of India in general in the City Hall. Credit is due to the and the Mahomedans in particular. We stated that the Ordinances were based on the Postal Convention, notice the rather gloomy prospects held No doubt the British troops would evacuate and that that Convention did not apply to Colonial Ports; and further that, even assuming that the Convention did apply to Hongkong, the 'fatal objection, that they [the Ordinances] deprive residents here of their right to resort to Her Majesty's Courts in certain cases, would still hold good, as the Postal Convention has never been sanctioned by Parliament.' Not a word is here said about our local Ordinances being sanctioned by Parliament, because anyone who knows anything about the subject is perfectly well aware that local statutes are sanctioned or confirmed by the Queen, through the Secretary of State. But our contemporary, having invented its own misunderstanding and assumed that it 'may possibly be entertained in other quarters'-a very unlikely contingencyproceeds gravely to inform its readers, in large type, that 'the approval of Parliament has nothing to do with the laws in Hongkong.' If the writer of the statement last quoted had read the decision in the leading case of the Parlement Belge, and had underturing difficulty whatever concerning the on this point, but said that the legitimate stood the argument set forth in the Petition to Her Majesty, he would have known that it had been already decided that the Postal Convention could not be enforced, because it had not been approved by Parliament. tests now required," does, or did lately, ap- had made, and of which the presence of a No British subject can be deprived of his ply to a pattern of which we believe we are large and increasing number of Mussul- rights at law, except by the sanction of Parliament; and therefore the Postal Coninterview, says Mr Gladstone's remarks vention, even in England, could not be Another point in Governor Smith's ad- threw a rosy tint over everything that he enforced because it sought to deprive a British subject of his rights, without this sanction of Parliament. the Chinese Recorder. The number contains two or three interesting articles and article is by Dr Macgowan and treats of self-immolation by fire in China. One cannot help thinking that the writer would have greatly improved his contribution if he had taken a little more care. As it is, the article is disjointed and consists of the narration of a few incidents without much evident connection and sequence. One of the incidents he relates we give in full in another column. Rev. J. C. Thomson continues his 'Historical Landmarks of Macao. The time treated of is the stirring days of 1849 to 1851, whon the struggle was going on between Portugal and China for the control of Macao, and when Governor do Amaral was assassinated in revenge for the energetic action he took in resisting the Reid brings to a conclusion his article on 'The Duty of Christian Missions to the Upper Classes of China.' The article contains a number of valuable suggestions, worthy of consideration by missionaries. Among his recommendations for influencing the upper classes in favour of mission work are the following :- Every opporto show friendliness should be Medical work ought to be fosand scientific and solid religious literature ought to be diffused. No available means of educating the people should be neglected. In the interior the missionary would find it to his advantage to observe Chinese etiquette. The writer discusses the advantages and disadvantages of the assumption of official rank by the Roman Catholics, and comes to the conclusion that it is better for missionaries not to consuls for the interior, nor to appoint status of missionaries with the native officials by introduction or recommendation, missionary or convert presenting their may be so opened that this may be done with the native official, and with an equal and ministers, and the Christian Church will entirely given to the frivolous discussion of tioned in certain passages of the Bible refers be used for communions and what ought to of the Pharisees and Sadducees who paid tithe of mint and anise and cumin, and omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgment, mercy and faith. SELF-IMMOLATION BY FIRE IN CHINA.

Dr. MacGowan in the Chinese Recorder tells the story of the recent case of attempted self-destruction by fire at Wenchow as follows :---

Animated by a high sense of public spirit and public duty, a large number of the British residents offered their services as Artillery Volunteers. which, on behalf of the Government, I most readily accepted. The Corps has been established with the full approval of Her Majesty's Government, and is now recognized as a portion of the permanent Garrison of the Colony. A new Ordinance for the enrolment and organization of Volunteers will be laid before you, and on its passing, I hope that the Volunteer Forces will be considerably enlarged. You will, I feel confident, willingly vote such sums as may be considered necessary for their training and maintenance in a state of thorough efficiency.
